

Campus Resistance to Koch $$

Since 2005, the Charles Koch Foundation (CKF) has given $142 million to support and influence programs at over 400 universities and colleges. George Mason University (GMU) stands out in that crowd, having received $95.5 million - more than two thirds of all CKF giving.

GEORGE MASON UNIVERSITY – KOCHS' BASE CAMP

Koch funding has supported GMU's economics department, law school, and two affiliate think-tanks: the Mercatus Center and the Institute for Humane Studies (IHS). IHS provides the crucial "talent pipeline" of professors, researchers, and politicians who staff Koch's state and national networks. The Mercatus Center, a free-market think-tank, then produces the research those networks rely upon to achieve their political objectives across the country. The Center has been described as "ground zero for deregulation policy in Washington."

In 2019, faculty at GMU successfully organized to change university gift acceptance policies to prevent donor influence in the future. Students were an integral part of this victory, applying pressure to the Faculty Senate and Board of Visitors in support of the changes.

UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA – COLONIZING K-12

Kochs Off Campus! (KOC!) formed in May 2017 to oppose the Koch-founded Center for the Philosophy of Freedom at the University of Arizona. Since then KOC! ousted the "Freedom Center's" ideologically-biased high school course from the Tucson Unified School District and the Amphitheater School District. More than 100 UA faculty members have signed a petition asking UA to sever ties with the Freedom Center. On February 3, 2020, a KOC! faculty member asked the UA faculty senate to conduct an independent investigation of the Freedom Center.

SUFFOLK UNIVERSITY – DENYING CLIMATE CHANGE

The Charles Koch Foundation donated $1,005,328 to Suffolk University from 2008 to 2015. Documents released in 2013 revealed that Suffolk's Koch-funded Beacon Hill Institute (BHI) promised its corporate donors studies that would pave the way for “legislative activity that will pare back or repeal” the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative. That same year, Kalin Jordan, an alumna of the university, started to raise concerns that monied interests were influencing the research being produced on campus. Over the course of three years, Jordan garnered over 20,000 signatures for a petition to then-President James McCarthy, successfully fought for disclosure of Suffolk’s private research grants, and built the pressure necessary to force Suffolk to cut ties with the Beacon Hill Institute entirely. BHI is now a free-standing entity.

TROY UNIVERSITY – PRIVATIZING STATE PENSIONS

At an Association of Private Enterprise Education (APEE) annual conference, Troy University professor George Crowley bragged that Troy’s Koch center was able to “take over” several departments, “ram through” curricular changes, and was working to privatize the Alabama state pension system in cooperation with the State Policy Network, the American Legislative Exchange Council (ALEC), and the John Arnold Foundation.

When UnKoch My Campus (a national organization with which Kochs Off Campus! is affiliated) released recordings of Crowley’s speech, the Professional Firefighters of Alabama (a network of 45,000 public employees) started a campaign to save the state retirement system. After UnKoch provided APEE recordings to a journalist and the story broke, Crowley was removed as chair of Troy’s Department of Economics, and administrators censured the center with the intention of reshaping its mission statement. The number of lobbyists pushing pension “reform” dropped from twenty in 2016 to zero in 2017.

UNIVERSITY OF DAYTON – INFLUENCING CURRICULUM AND FACULTY HIRING

In 2015, a University of Dayton alumnus asked the university’s interim Provost if the school was still funded by, or seeking new funding from, Koch foundations. Attached to his inquiry was an op-ed explaining that his education at the small Catholic school inspired him to care about other people, protect the environment and fight for social justice. “UD accepting Koch funding is in clear violation of the institution’s Catholic Marianist values,” the alumnus wrote. The Provost replied stating that the university no longer accepts Koch funding. University spokeswoman Cilla Shindell explained to the Center for Public Integrity that the school had rejected a recent proposal from a “foundation that is in part funded by the Koch family” because it “would have been structured in a way that would limit oversight by the university in such areas as curriculum and faculty hiring.”

WESTERN CAROLINA UNIVERSITY – FACULTY REJECT KOCH CENTER

Following the announcement of a Koch center at Western Carolina University (WCU), the university’s faculty senate voted nearly unanimously to reject the creation of the center. Nonetheless, university administrators moved ahead. Following this, a faculty oversight board was created and donor policies were revised to provide stronger protections against donor influence.

BALL STATE UNIVERSITY – “PAPA JOHN” ON THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES?

At Ball State University in Indiana, then-Governor Mike Pence was about to appoint Charles Koch’s partner donor “Papa John” Schnatter to the Board of Trustees. Faculty asked Unkoch My Campus for help. A campaign involving disseminating a research brief, mobilizing students, and working with local journalists seems to have prevented the appointment.

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY – FACULTY CALL FOR CUTTING TIES WITH KOCH NETWORK

In March 2017, the faculty senate at Wake Forest University in North Carolina passed a motion that WFU cut any ties with Koch and his network of political donors. The motion was based on reports from two faculty senate committees.

FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY – PRIVATIZING PRISONS

Here's a summary of Charles Koch's malign influence at Florida State University:

- Koch's 2016 donation to FSU included $150,000 for the Project for Accountable Justice (PAJ), a corporate-funded "criminal justice" think tank. The PAJ holds ties to private corrections contractors and pro-corporate "criminal justice reform" efforts known as "Right on Crime," led by the American Legislative Exchange Council, the State Policy Network, and the Charles Koch Institute
- Koch's "Undergraduate Program" involved donor creation of several new courses, donor influence over at least nine courses, and donor control over introductory "principles" courses
- a Koch advisory board has control over graduate fellowship selection and dissertation topics in Koch's graduate and Ph.D fellowship program
- the university administration interfered in two faculty reviews of the original Koch agreement, suppressing the top findings of the first 2011 faculty investigation.

MONTANA STATE UNIVERSITY – FACULTY REFUSE KOCH DEREGULATION CENTER

In November 2019, the faculty senate at Montana State University declined to endorse the creation of a Koch-funded program on campus, the Center for Regulation and Applied Economic Analysis.

UNIVERSITY OF UTAH – A KOCH ECONOMICS INSTITUTE

In August 2017, almost 200 professors from the University of Utah signed a statement of concern about the creation of the Koch-funded Marriner S. Eccles Institute for Economics and Quantitative Analysis. The statement of concern was sent to UU's faculty senate, which charged a faculty committee with reviewing policies and procedures for approving institutes and centers.
